Gifting That Goes Beyond

Established in 2012 by Ange Lavender, Country Culture is your destination for premium Australian-made, regional Indigenous, and sustainable gifts. We believe gifts are more than just objects – they're connections, moments of thoughtfulness that bring an element of surprise

Our mission is clear: to simplify gift-giving while deepening your connection to each product's story and the artisans behind them. Every purchase you make with us echoes our commitment to social responsibility, making a positive impact on communities, one thoughtful gift at a time.

Testimonials

“We have 4000 plus staff we wanted to thank and acknowledge every single staff member throughout our network of 700 locations throughout Australia. The challenge was to find an organisation that could assist in preparing a gift that we could send out to everyone, some in very remote locations. I did an internet search and was delighted to come across Country Culture and contacted Angela to see if they could assist.

To our delight, Angela presented to us some fabulous options for Christmas Hampers for the staff which included a product from every state in Australia. Further to the staff gifts, we then approached Angela to assist with more hampers.

Throughout the whole process Angela was the ultimate professional. It is wonderful to see a business such as Country Culture support so many regional producers and artisans throughout Australia.”

“ Since being introduced to Ange, Country Culture has quickly become a go-to partner when looking for quality items. I greatly value Ange's ability to work closely with us to find an array of options to meet our needs. Ange is always fabulous to work with - she is incredibly responsive and so often turns around orders in a short time frame!

Emma Hansen- Manager, Tourism and Events Queensland

For the past 3 years I've thoroughly enjoyed working with Ange, she is such a delight to work with. Her expertise and thorough knowledge of Australian products makes our job a whole lot easier when searching for that perfect gift or bespoke design idea for our clients and events. Thank you Ange for always going above and beyond our expectations and delivering to meet our requirements. I would highly recommend contacting Ange and her team for your next event or styling request.
